INSTITUTIONAL SUPPORT

In May, France's Sports Minister demanded "the toughest sanctions" against the footballer Mohamed Camara and his club. The request came after the Monaco player covered an LGBTI support badge on his jersey with white tape on IDAHOBIT. The player was handed a four-match suspension for his actions and refusal to take part in awareness-raising activities proposed by the disciplinary committee.

In June, Monaco Pride celebrated its third edition, with over 150 attendees including Camille Gottlieb, daughter of Princess Stephanie.
