

Join our next Skills Boost session on making graphics with free tools and no design skills

News, Strategic Communications

Do you want to make better use of graphic design in your LGBTI activism?

This Skills Boost Has been Concluded

See the results here!

Join our next skills boost session on Thursday 17 February from 12:00-13:30 CET to learn practical skills and get inspiration from other LGBTI activists.

The Skills Boost will cover:

- When and how is graphic design useful to LGBTI activists specifically?
- Basic design principles to get you started
- Practical tips for using free tools that have been released or updated recently

As with our first Skills Boost on making videos under lockdown, at the end of this session you will be given resources for an assignment to design your own graphic. If you are interested, you will be invited to a second follow-up session in March where you will get feedback on your graphic from ILGA-Europe's experts, and help to 'premiere' your graphic publicly.